TO-MORROW. Sunday, September 4.

It must be very annoying for Messrs. Oleveland and Harrison to find themselves eclipsed by prize-fighters and microbes. There is not the slightest doubt that that is the fate which has overaken them, and they probably feel like a young wedding couple who at the critical moment find attention diverted from their splendid selves by a dog-fight outaide the church.

Harrison is more to be pitied as one totally neglected in favor of cholera germs, for Cleveland will have something to-morrow to encourage him. While in wise overlooking the importance of ights and plagues, The SUNDAY WORLD nature of the day and prove that no anic can make wretched bacilli more portant in the eyes of a great paper an the Democratic candidate.

LEVELAND'S LIFE.

An art supplement of the SUNDAY WORLD -that is to say, a supplement with really good pictures well engraved, as in the effete and out-of-date weeklies-will present for the first time to the people a complete and satisfactory story of a man great and lucky. Every one-even a Republican dwelling in political darkness-must take an interest in one who has done the things that Cleveland has done and besten the men that he has beaten. The character of those who have prepared this work for the SUNDAY WORLD adds to its value. They are: Richard Watson Gilder, Wilson S. Bissell and George F. Parker. Besides being very able men these gentlemen are especially fitted to acter because of their intimate associathe latest photographs of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland, and many young men and women will be glad to cut those pictures out and paste them up as models. This story of the life and doings of one American should be read by every one, not excepting People's party men and Prohibi-

There is no reason to doubt that he would bug himself in his arms and say: "Am t or um I not proof that it does not do to despise the most humble and lowly of Nature's creations?" The thoughtfu about the cholera and the little bug which brings it, will do a great deal of philos-ophising; the morbid man will exuit and say, "This surpasses my wildest hopes" know as much as he cares to know about the latest trouble that we have on our hands. The choiera field in THE SUNDAY WORLD will certainly be well covered. The distributing points of the disease. avre, Hamburg, &c., are described, and the danger from the various points made drinkers more readily than any other class with one exception, that exception being the class of total abstainers. All the news of sullivan, the creator of the ring of to-day, will be wired from that nobleman's lair in the South, and the little fighters who are to act as a sort of hors d'oweres before the great fight will not be neglected. ### TOLLE'S TELEPATH.

SUNDAY'S

This is a story based on the wonders of electricity and tells in a most convincing way the experiences of a man who made a machine to read the thoughts of others. It will make Jules Verne weep to think that he never had that idea. It is doubtful, however, whether he could have carried it out plausibly. The author, W. H. Merrill, jr , is an electrician of ability. The story will open the minds of those who read it and interest them at the same time-just what a good story should do. It will make many men want to know something more about the greatest servant of man, electric force.

THE HUMOR OF THE WEEK.

Every man in this country, except one in ten. devotes much of his time remembering and telling funny things. We are a nution very fond of what we call humor. There are many factories of the humor which we love, the comic papers to wit, SUNDAY WORLD by Mr. James L. Ford, who knows the workings of the factories very well. The best jokes and pictures.
